

Naturex receives the OHSAS 18001 certification for its plant in Avignon

Avignon, 23rd May – The OHSAS norm (Occupational Health and Safety Assessment Series) assesses and certifies the management of health and safety at work.

The site in Avignon has successfully completed an audit for OHSAS 18001 certification. This label aims at acknowledging the daily involvement of people in preventing risks in the company. It is a new milestone in the policy of quality, safety and environmental protection lead by the group. This new norm compliments the other standards, like ISO 9001, ISO 14001 and BRC that the Avignon site has achieved. Naturex confirms its commitment in terms of sustainable development, quality and security.

“We are proud to gain this certification. It is a new step in our global approach to continuous improvement. It rewards the involvement of our teams and the investments that have been made to optimize our risk analysis systems” states Frédéric Seguin, Industrial Director.
